Making Movies

Extended Edition

This extended edition of the 'Making Movies' book contains photography shot during the making of the film 'Christian' over a period of roughly six weeks from June 7th to late July 2010.

It loosely documents the summer shooting of the vampire movie in and around the North Yorkshire coastal town of Whitby. Several of photos also feature nearby Goathland Railway Station up on the North Yorkshire moors.

This 2010 Solo Photo Book Month project was planned to work as a loose mix of landscape, documentary and portraiture images capturing the sights, on and around, the movie's locations.

All of the photographs were taken using an Apple iPhone and the Shakeitphoto 'Polaroid' photo app.

Many thanks go to the cast and crew of the vampire movie 'Christian' for their co-operation in the making of this book :o)

Details about the film can be found at:- www.christianmovie.co.uk

A big influence for using the iPhone in this year's project came from photographers Todd Heisler and David Guttenfelder, both of whom used the iPhone and the Shakeitphoto app in photographic projects. The idea for using the iPhone for this SoFoBoMo book started with their work.
